

HOW TO GET FREE LEGAL ASSISTANCE THROUGH THE MISSISSIPPI VOLUNTEER LAWYERS PROJECT

About MVLP

The Mississippi Volunteer Lawyers Project ("MVLP") is a statewide, legal nonprofit organization dedicated to providing free legal services to low-income Mississippians. Since 1982, we have relied on a large network of volunteer attorneys to represent our clients in various legal matters. In addition to representing clients, we also provide seminars for attorneys, legal clinics and public awareness workshops across the state.

Who qualifies for MVLP's services

Individuals qualify for our services if their combined household income is less than 200% of the federal poverty guidelines, if they meet our citizenship requirements, and if their legal matter is one that we normally handle. See the table below for the applicable income guidelines.

All prospective clients are screened for eligibility by MVLP. MVLP reserves the right to reject a prospective client's legal matter if the prospective client has an income which exceeds the program's guidelines and/ or if the prospective client presents a legal matter which falls outside of the program's case priorities. Furthermore, even after an individual's matter is accepted by MVLP, the program may terminate its representation should the individual's financial situation or legal matter change such that he or she is no longer eligible for MVLP's services.

SNAPSHOTS OF THE LEGAL MATTERS HANDLED BY MVLP

Adoption: A person may be adopted regardless of age. If the natural parents of the person to be adopted are still living, then the parents must either consent to the adoption or their parental rights must be terminated.

Advanced Healthcare Directives: An advanced healthcare directive, sometimes referred to as a "living will", allows one to appoint an agent to make health care decisions for you when you are unable to do so for yourself as well as set forth your wishes as to end-of-life decisions.

Birth Certificate Correction/Name Change: For the procurement of benefits, identification documents or other needs, Mississippi allows changes/alterations to birth certificates at the discretion of courts and the state's vital records agency.

Child Support Modification: Child support awards may be modified, either upwards or downwards, if there has been a substantial and material change in circumstances after a child support order has been entered that affects one's ability to pay.

Conservatorship: Conservatorships are granted when a person, by reason of advanced age, physical incapacity or mental weakness, is no longer able to properly care for his or herself.

Desertion Divorce: To obtain this type of divorce, a spouse must have left the marital home, been gone for one continuous year and not tried to return to the marriage. A witness is required to support claims of desertion.

Emancipation: The age of majority in Mississippi is twenty-one (21). To become emancipated before twenty-one (21), a minor must file a petition in writing and join a "next friend" - typically a biological parent or next of kin.

Guardianship: A guardian other than the parents may be appointed over a minor child where either of the child's parents is deceased and/ or the minor's parents or a surviving parent is unable to fulfill the obligations of a parent.

Irreconcilable Differences Divorce: Both parties must want to be divorced and agree to all terms of the divorce. The waiting period before the divorce can be final is sixty (60) days.

Sentenced to Penitentiary Divorce: To obtain this type of divorce, a spouse must be or have been incarcerated in a state or federal prison.

Power of Attorney: A power of attorney is a document by which one person appoints another as his or her agent and allows that agent in certain circumstance specified in the document to act on his or her behalf. Power of Attorney enables one to appoint an agent to act on your behalf in financial and/or economic matters.

Visitation: A noncustodial parent may seek visitation with a minor child if he/ she is paying child support or has a desire to do so.

Wills: A will is a legal document that states one's desires concerning what will happen to assets after death. A will also contains other specific directions concerning who is to follow the instructions of the will and who will care for minor children that may be left behind.
